The Firm

Quantum Solutions, Inc. is a registered investment advisor in the State of Washington and was founded in 1995 on the principle that clients are seeking objective planning advice and not merely financial products to achieve financial solutions.

In a world that is becoming increasingly more complicated and where the consumer is in constant search of immediate gratification and simple solutions that will uncomplicate their financial and personal lives, the professionals at Quantum Solutions, Inc. offer unbiased and objective financial analysis and solutions. As an independent firm, QSI offers a bridge between the client and a myriad of financial professionals, services and products. Through its network of corporate alliances and professional relationships, the client has ready access to financial solutions for virtually every aspect of their personal and economic lives.

Why People Plan

QSI employs a financial planning process, based upon the education of its clients, where:

‘The goal is to create a perception consistent with reality that maximizes the client’s desires by taking advantage of all the possibilities.’

Through education, QSI helps the client balance their perception of what they think will happen based upon the planning that has already been completed with the reality of what in fact can happen based upon that prior planning. By increasing the client’s awareness, the professionals at QSI are able to assist the client in determining whether a gap exists between the client’s perception of what the client would like to happen (their desires), and what could happen if the client were to take advantage of all their possibilities. Additional planning is required whenever the gap between client’s perception and their desire is wide enough to make the client uncomfortable.

Quantum Solutions, Inc. provides ongoing objective financial planning, providing the client with pragmatic solutions in an ever more complicated world.

The Assessment Process

Data collection, organization and analysis

During this phase of the process, we will review and analyze the client's financial and legal documents, to better understand the factual nature of their current situation.

Understanding objectives

The next phase of the process will entail gaining a clear understanding of client objectives. This involves a personal interview with the client with respect to their desires regarding themselves, their family and their employment and business interests.

Identification of problems and opportunities

Once we understand the client's current situation and their desires, we can begin to identify any problems or opportunities that may presently exist. In this phase, we will superimpose the client's desires onto their current situation. This exercise makes apparent any conflicts between what they have and what they want.

Viable options and strategies

The final product of the process will be a detailed report or current assessment.

All three phases will be covered:

- 1) A summary of the client's current situation,
- 2) A detail of key objectives or desires and all significant problems; and
- 3) Opportunities will be identified.

Finally, strategies will be identified that, if employed should mitigate any exposures confronting the client and allow them to take advantage of untapped opportunities.

'The goal is to create a perception consistent with reality that maximizes the client's desires by taking advantage of all the possibilities.'

Ongoing Financial Planning

Planning is an ongoing process. While clients are not obligated to continue a financial planning relationship with Quantum Solutions, Inc. most clients find that a regular financial checkup makes sense.

Three Factors That Make Ongoing Planning a Necessity

- Assets seldom stay the same. Generally they are either increasing or decreasing.
- Client's desires are constantly changing. For instance, what was important to you when you were raising your family may not be as critical as you approach retirement.
- The government is constantly changing the rules. Changes to the tax code have become an annual event.

Whom do you rely upon?

Most clients have attorneys, accountants, bankers, investment brokers, insurance agents, etc. However, the ultimate responsibility for tying all this advice together generally falls upon the client. Quantum Solutions, Inc. provides ongoing objective financial planning, assisting the client with a coordinated platform of services and providing pragmatic solutions in an ever more complicated world.

'QSI helps the client balance their perception of what they think will happen based upon the planning that has already been completed with the reality of what in fact can happen based upon that prior planning

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Quantum Solutions, Inc. has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Quantum Solutions, Inc. must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Quantum Solutions, Inc. anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which Quantum Solutions, Inc. has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which Quantum Solutions, Inc., its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. Quantum Solutions, Inc. employees and persons associated with Quantum Solutions, Inc. are required to follow Quantum Solutions, Inc. Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of Quantum Solutions, Inc. and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Quantum Solutions, Inc. clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Quantum Solutions, Inc. will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Quantum Solutions, Inc. clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Quantum Solutions, Inc. and its clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with Quantum Solutions, Inc. obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. Quantum Solutions, Inc. will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the Order.

Quantum Solutions, Inc. clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Carl P Eshelman, CLU, ChFC.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

It is Quantum Solutions, Inc. policy that the firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Quantum Solutions, Inc. will also not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an adviser is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.
